

Rafaelsen Young Investigators Award

In 1986 Ole Rafaelsen and William Bunney were instrumental in establishing a CINP programme supporting the attendance of young scientists at the XVth CINP Congress. That programme was posthumously named the Rafaelsen Fellowship Award to honour Dr. Rafaelsen, who died in 1987.

The recipients of the CINP 2022 World Congress Award will be chosen by an international scientific jury. Three awardees will be selected and presented with the award consisting of a certificate, three nights at the congress hotel, a USD 200 cash stipend and complimentary registration fee for the 2023 CINP World Congress in Montréal, Canada. Selected recipients will also have the opportunity to present their abstract orally.

Guidelines:

- All applications must be sponsored by a CINP member.
- Applicants must be working within the area of neuropsychopharmacology and should have obtained a PhD or MD within the last 10 years prior to the last date of application.
- The applicant commits to participate with an oral presentation at the 2023 CINP World Congress if elected recipient of the award.
- In case an applicant is not elected recipient of one of the Rafaelsen Awards, he/she may elect to present the submitted work as a poster in one of the regular poster sessions.

To submit an application, please provide the following information by Wednesday, February 15, 2023, to info@cinp.org.

- 1) The nominee's curriculum vitae including a list of publications
- 2) A 500-word statement which summarizes the nominee's current work activity
- 3) Sponsor's letter of recommendation
- 4) Submitted abstract (here)
- 5) This completed application form.

Full name of applicant (including title): _____

Address: _____

Tel: _____ E-mail: _____

Date of birth: _____

I hereby confirm that my application is complete and that I subscribe to all regulations governing the Rafaelsen Fellowship Award.

Current date: _____ Applicant's Signature: _____